Other Organizations

CHAMPLAIN SOCIETY EXPANDS MEMBERSHIP

The Champlain Society, formed in 1905 for the purpose of publishing valuable and inaccessible material relating to the history of Canada, has voted to increase its membership. The Society has published more than 60 volumes over the years, the latest being a translation into English of Joseph Francois Lafitau's Les Moeurs des Sauvages Ameriquains under the editorship of William N Fenton (SUNY Albany) with translation by Elizabeth Moore. Persons interested in applying for membership should write Eleanor Cook, Exec Sécy-Treas, Champlain Society, Royal York Hotel, 100 Front St W, Toronto, ON M5J 1E3, Canada.

ANIMAL BEHAVIOR SOCIETY TO MEET IN COLORADO

The 1976 Annual Meeting of the Animal Behavior Society will be at the University of Colorado, Boulder, June 21-25, 1976. Again this year Human Ethologists and Biosocial Anthropologists will meet with the ABS to present papers and hold workshop sessions. Transmittal forms for contributing papers appear in the November Human Ecology Newsletter which may be obtained by writing to Donald R Omark, Inst for Child Behav & Devel, U Illinois, 51 Gerty Dr, Champaign, IL 61820. Deadline for paper abstracts is March 1, 1976.

Grants & Support

CROSS-CULTURAL RESEARCH AWARD DEADLINE IN MARCH

The Human Relations Area Files will present a prize of $250 for the best social science student paper in crosscultural research. Entries in the Fifth Annual C S Ford Cross-Cultural Research Award competition must be submitted by March 31, 1976. Authors must be currently enrolled at a degree-granting institution or have been awarded a degree during 1975.

Although papers must be crosscultural in nature, use of the HRAF is not mandatory. Papers are limited to 50 double-spaced pages and the author must provide a 50-75 word abstract with the three required copies.

Entries or requests for further information should be sent to Editor, Behavior Science Research, Student Research Prize Comp, HRAF, Box 2015 Y S, New Haven, CT 06520.

MOONEY AWARD DEADLINE EXTENDED

The deadline for submitting manuscripts to the 1976 James Mooney Award competition has been extended to January 31, 1976. The award, sponsored by the Southern Anthropological Society, is made annually to the author of a distinguished book-length study of a New World society or culture. The prize consists of a cash award of $1000 and publication by the University of Tennessee Press. Manuscripts will be judged by A limited number of small grants for research in American Indian anthropological linguistics and ethnohistory is available through the Phillips Fund of the American Philosophical Society. Application forms may be obtained from the Librarian, American Philosophical Soc, 105 S 5th St, Philadelphia, PA 19106, and must be returned by March 5, 1976. Awards will be announced early in May.

Because available funds are small, the grants are restricted to work in North American Indian linguistics and ethnohistory. Grants are not made for projects in archeology, ethnography, psycholinguistics or for preparation of pedagogical material. No restriction is imposed on those who may apply for the $500-$800 grants, but preference will be given to younger scholars, including graduate students.

Archeologists who have recently undertaken fieldwork or other research in Western Asia and would like to have a notice appear in the Current Research section of American Antiquity should send summaries to Patty Jo Watson, American Antiquity, 229 Harrison, Princeton, NJ 08540. See volume 40, pp 361-363, for proper format.

Miles Richardson (Louisiana State), James Boon (Duke), Charles Hudson (Georgia) and Elizabeth Colson (California-Berkeley). Inquiries and manuscripts should be sent to Richardson, Dept of Geog & Anth, Louisiana State U, Baton Rouge, LA 70803.

TRAINING PROGRAM IN MENTAL HEALTH

Applications are now being received for a postdoctoral training program at Yale to develop skills leading to professional careers as investigators and teachers in the field of mental health program evaluation and research. The program is funded by the Alcohol, Drug Abuse and Mental Health Administration of HEW and provides for a limited number of stipends between $10,000 and $13,200.

Applicants must have a doctoral degree in one of various fields, including the behavioral sciences. The program consists of course work and opportunities for interdisciplinary research and can be structured for a period of two years.

Application deadline is April 15, 1976, with notification by May 30, 1976. For information write Gary L Tischler, Director, Ctr for the Study of Health Services, Yale U, 89 Trumbull St, New Haven, CT 06520.

The National Institute of Drug Abuse is seeking proposals for the study of drug abuse in the following priority areas: (1) longitudinal studies of drug use (especially marijuana); (2) studies of the relationship between crime and drug use; (3) hidden user studies; (4) studies of alternative styles of coping (for example, drugs, food consumption, sex) especially emphasizing the development of nomenclatural frameworks. For information, write Lewis Angelone, Room 250, Eastwood Bldg, 5333 Westbard Av, Bethesda, MD 20014. Application deadline is March 1, 1976.